SCHOOL OF PROFESSIONAL STUDIES

Centenary Institute for

TALENT EXCELLENCE
Welcome to the School of Professional Studies!
Centenary University is a regionally-accredited institution offering associate's, bachelor's, and master's degrees since 1867. The School of Professional Studies (SPS) specializes in meeting the needs of working adults by offering a combination of accelerated 8-week sessions, blended learning formats, which include classroom and online learning, relevant undergraduate and graduate degrees plus certificates in business and professional studies.

For corporations, SPS collaborates with businesses to provide convenient, relevant and affordable educational opportunities to employees. Our 150 years of experience in education coupled with 21st century innovative thinking make us the premier destination for your educational needs.

TALENT Development

Through our Centenary Institute for Talent Excellence (CITE), we offer customized training to improve the competency of employees in:

- Communications
- Change Management
- Critical Thinking
- Leadership
- Other Skills as Required

Our training courses can be customized to suit the particular needs of our corporate partners and may be delivered on site, at our campus or online. We will work with your human resources training staff to develop stand-alone programs or to add value to existing programs. Either way, our competency-based outcomes will provide employees with the skills needed to compete in today's competitive environment.
Centenary FAST FACTS

1) Affordability
With our locked-in per credit tuition, the cost will not increase while you remain enrolled with a program at the School of Professional Studies. Corporate partners receive special rates on training and development for employees.

2) Flexibility and Convenience
Classes are offered in-person at our Parsippany or Edison learning centers, online, or at your corporate location.

3) Customizable Degree Plans
Centenary accepts college credit from a variety of colleges and universities to help you finish your degree quickly and efficiently, even if the credit was earned years ago.

4) Excellence & Innovation
Centenary’s academic tradition began in 1867. Our university is fully accredited and the first in New Jersey to offer adult students a business degree in our accelerated class format.

5) Personal Service
Our commitment to customer service and student academic support are unmatched. At Centenary University, we are proud to know every student by their name.

Here’s how partnering with Centenary can help:
• Provide educational strategies at a dynamic pace that keep employees engaged, current, and connected to your company’s place in the corporate business community.
• Help employees develop and sharpen a broad range of effective communication skills, analytical thinking skills and team work.
• Utilize tuition benefits as a tool to encourage employees’ contribution to your company’s vision and sense of purpose.
Learn about our CERTIFICATE PROGRAMS

SPS offers relevant, timely certificates in content areas designed for today’s managers. Certificates are designed to be taken as a group of courses created by the faculty of our highly respected institution as well as practitioners in their respective fields. Obtaining a professional certificate provides students with industry credentials and those courses may also be applied to relevant degree programs.

Corporate Retreats & MEETING FACILITY

Our state-of-the-art Parsippany campus, conveniently located in the Mack-Cali Corporate Center in the hub of Morris County, can accommodate corporate retreats, conferences, and small group seminars.

Conference amenities include space to accommodate up to 100 participants for plenary sessions, plus ten breakout classrooms with changeable configurations and seating designed for adults. From a technology standpoint we offer secure WiFi, audio-visual capabilities in all rooms, and the capability of remote, interactive interface through our Social Media Center of Expertise, #theVIBE.

Additionally, we have a learning center located in Edison, one of the premier mass-transit-served submarkets in the state. Being in one of New Jersey’s core office markets, this location offers many benefits to our corporate partners as the classroom space is designed for corporate training, small group seminars, and other learning sessions.
“Our mid-sized, privately-held company found that we had a gap in preparing individual contributors for promotion into team-department level management. With the help of the Centenary School For Professional Studies’ education specialists, we developed a customized talent development program for our high-potential and new-to-management employees. The program presented by Centenary educators over a three-week period was targeted, highly appreciated by the participants, and recognized by the participants’ superiors as materially improving the skill sets and success potential of these new managers.”
